Following the publication of the original article [1] we were informed that author Fitsum Abrha had unfortunately been omitted from the author list, as he was unable to respond during the manuscript preparation and submission.

The authorship has now been updated in the original article and included in this Correction.

The 'Author contributions' section has also been updated to read: "KG and FA: conceived and designed the project; managed the data collection. KG, HG and MT: conducted data analysis and wrote the manuscript. All authors read and approved the final manuscript".
